Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine whether there were differences in the prevalence of risk factors for low back pain between two groups of nurses working in different departments of a hospital. A cross-sectional study was conducted among 106 nurses working in the intensive care unit (ICU) and 106 nurses working in the medical-surgical department. Data were collected by means of a questionnaire containing information about sociodemographic variables, work-related variables, and health status. The prevalence of low back pain was higher among ICU nurses than among medical-surgical nurses. The prevalence of risk factors for low back pain was also higher among ICU nurses than among medical-surgical nurses. The results suggest that the prevalence of low back pain is related to the type of nursing work.
