Total unknown but fair estimate is 25 officers and 625 M. Scores of prisoners English, American French released by the bn advance. Also Hundreds of forced labor. bn's of men, women and even children released consisting of russians, Poles, Uzecks, Italians and even Chinese. Their Jubilation was expressed only partially by thronging the streets and lining the sidewalks and roads cheering the americans on but never enough to impede the bn's advance. All weapons were collected through the various town's. Day was mild cool, overcast and all personnel were thoroughly covered with the thick white dust which lay over the countryside in a thick haze. The main Comment on the day was "It was never like this before". The German Civilians were Apathic, in some cases indifferent, in other sullen while yet others
